Aluminium alloy

We use 6463 high-quality alloy aluminum as the raw material, offering moderate hardness and toughness without brittleness. Its tensile strength, yield strength, elongation, and other key properties exceed both national and European standards. The surface is plated with an anodic oxide film, ensuring excellent resistance to acid, alkali, and corrosion, as well as anti-aging properties. Additionally, the surface is easy to clean without leaving marks, effectively enhancing the product's performance and lifespan.

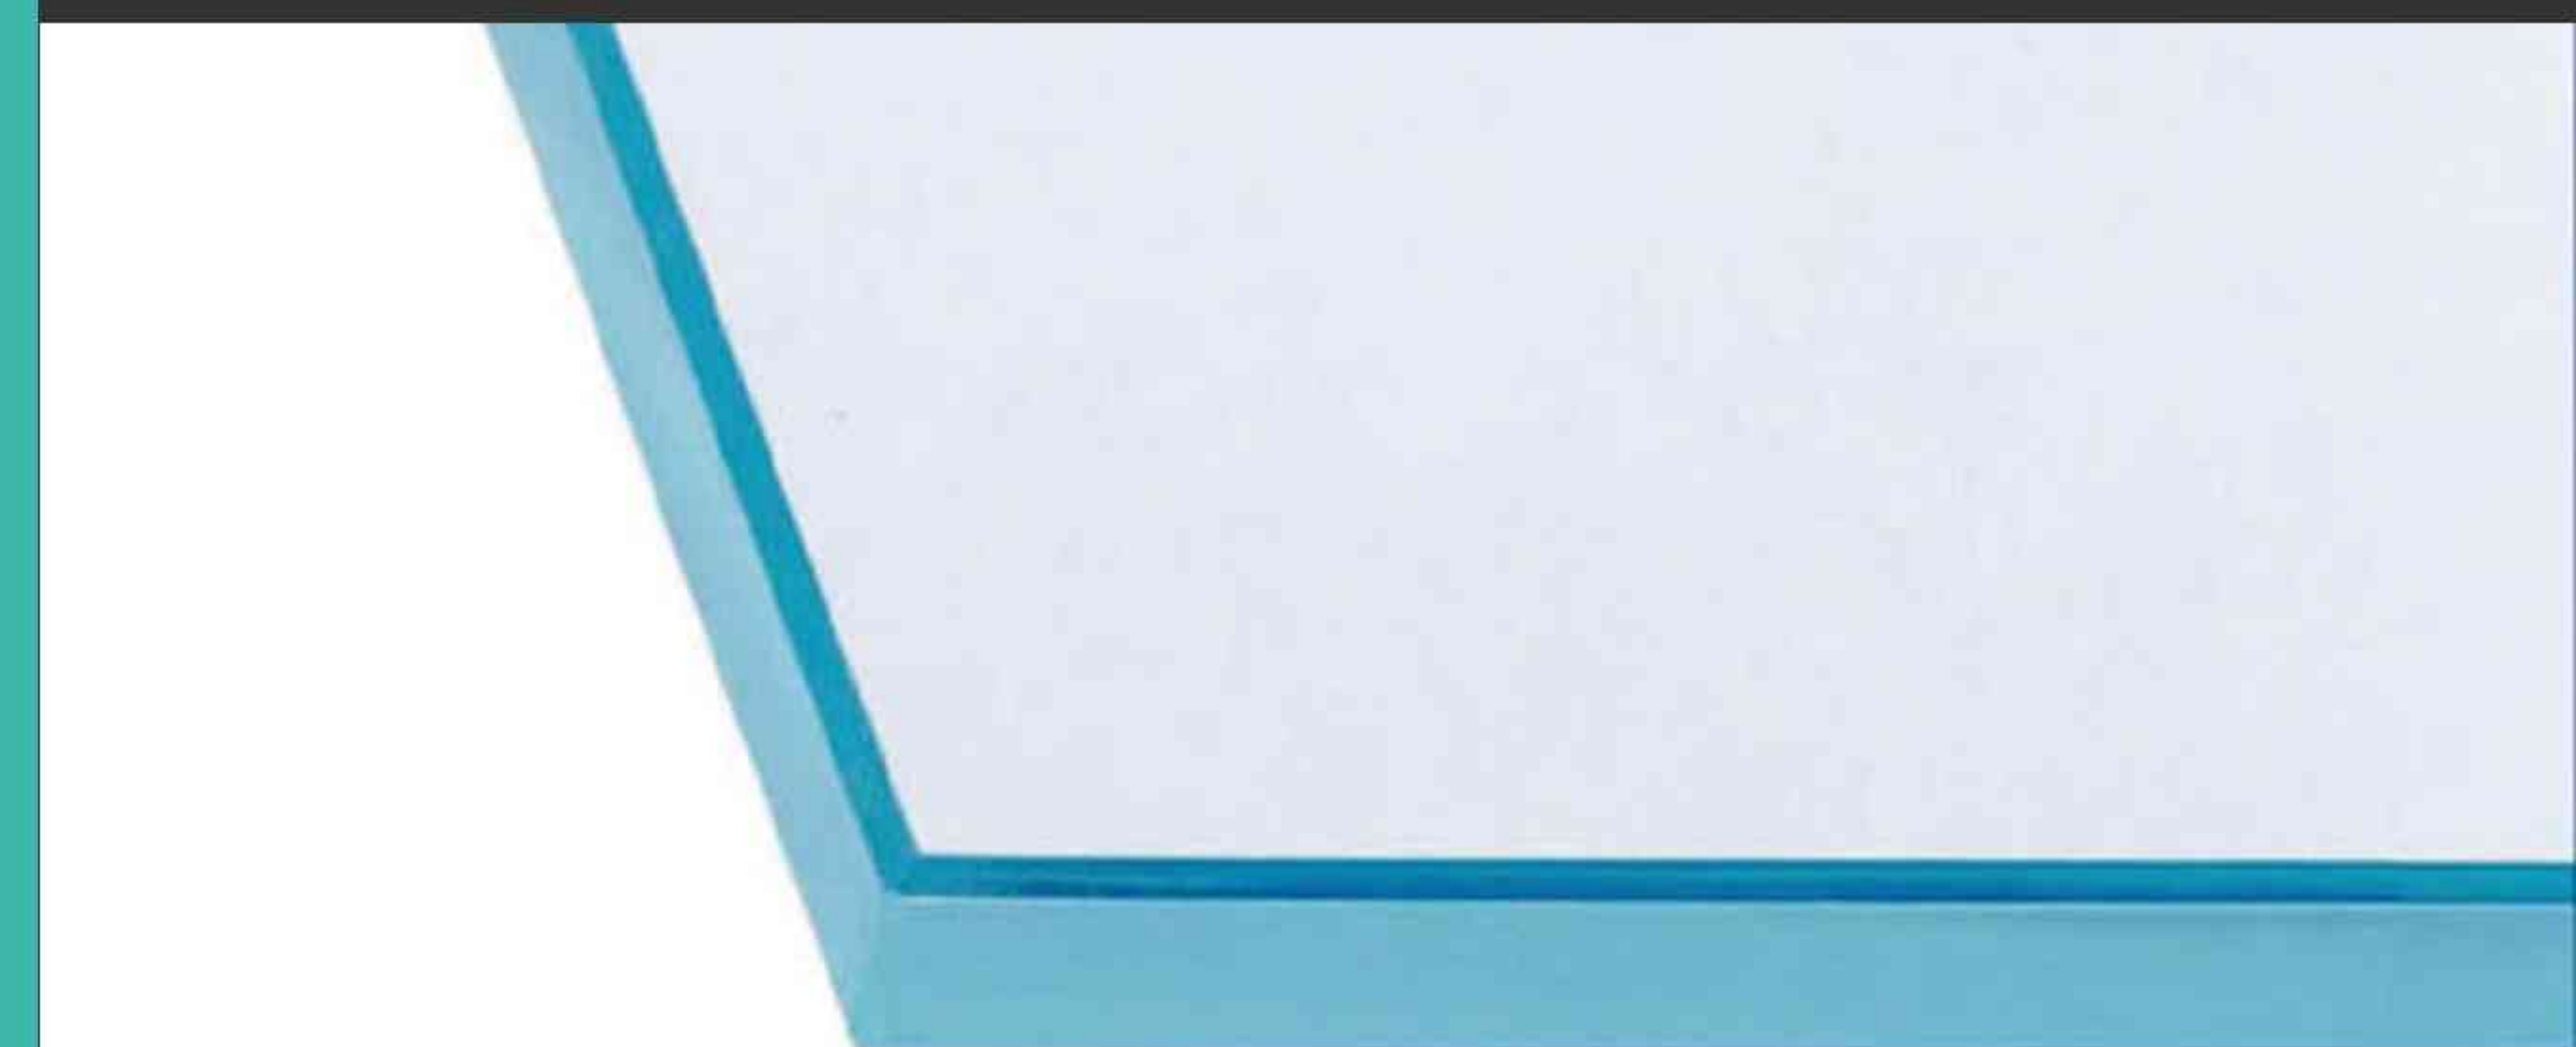

Pulley

The shower room adopts a SUS304 stainless steel casting body and imported 440 stainless steel bearings. The pulley is made of aerospace-grade engineering plastic through injection molding, ensuring durability and high performance. With real materials and robust construction, it has passed 100,000 push-and-pull tests, guaranteeing a service life of over 10 years. Its unique V-shaped design and inclined wheel track ensure stable operation and enhanced safety.

Glass

The tempered safety glass strictly complies with American standard (ASTM C1048-04), Australian standard (AS/NZS2208-1996), European standard (EN12150-1:2000), and other international standards. It offers superior flatness, excellent impact resistance, and high durability, making it less prone to breakage.

Hardware

The surface is processed with automatic finishing and polishing equipment imported from Germany. SUS304 stainless steel undergoes 10K fine grinding, water grinding, and polishing to achieve a mirror-like finish. This precise process ensures exceptional quality and durability.

Easy to clean

The use of polymer nanotechnology causes water droplets to automatically form into beads, enabling quick discharge and reducing water stains and bacterial growth. This technology helps maintain cleanliness and protects the health of users during their shower experience.

Rubber strip

The product uses medical-grade plastic raw materials, offering excellent elasticity and corrosion resistance. It remains durable without discoloration or yellowing over time. Magnetic strip buffering technology effectively reduces the noise during door operation and ensures convenient cleaning, enhancing the product's longevity.
